

INTERGALACTIC DREAMING

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

BACKGROUND

Space exploration and the realm beyond earth's atmosphere have long held a fascination for all those interested in imagining the unknown. This topic is of particular relevance to the Southern California region, which is home to innovative organizations contributing to the burgeoning space industry. In the coming years, the growing field of space travel promises to revive notions of outer space within the collective imagination and inspire groups devoted to education and research into the subjects of astronomy and related sciences.

San Diego International Airport's Art Program seeks proposals from artists, curators, and cultural, community, or educational organizations working in all media, whose ideas, artwork and collections are inspired by or representative of the theme of space exploration and travel.

Intergalactic Dreaming invites exhibitors to explore notions of celestial phenomena and astronomy and to use past, present, and speculative depictions of the cosmos and space travel as inspiration. The resulting installations will present diverse perspectives on the subject for the traveling public.

Artwork and collections representing this theme will be displayed throughout the airport for up to one year beginning in January 2017. Up to fifteen participating artists and/or organizations will be chosen based on their aesthetic and creative representation of the theme Intergalactic Dreaming, and unique use of media. San Diego-based artists are strongly encouraged to apply.

SELECTION

Art Program staff and a guest curator will review submissions. Proposals will be judged on the basis of the following criteria: creativity, cultural significance, educational value and/or artistic merit, unique use of media and relevance to the theme: Intergalactic Dreaming. Selected exhibitors will be notified of acceptance within 30 days of review of submissions. Notification will be made by email or phone. Approximately 90 days prior to the date of installation, exhibitors will be notified to begin finalizing the exhibition plan development.

San Diego International Airport reserves the right to refuse final artwork and exhibitions if exhibitors are unable to meet installation deadlines, or if, upon arrival, work is poorly executed, does not reflect the approved final display plan or is inappropriate for public display.

TERMS & CONDITIONS

This Call for Proposals is open to organizations, groups and individuals interested in exhibiting with the Temporary Exhibitions Program at San Diego International Airport. All media is eligible for consideration. Art Program staff reserves the right to select the final location and to change installation dates based on availability, constraints and other operational factors. San Diego International Airport will promote and publicize the exhibition through various mediums, including news, web, and social media. Any and all publicity or promotion efforts related to the exhibition on the exhibitors' part must be coordinated in conjunction with Art Program staff.

Compensation & Exhibition Period

Exhibitors are not offered any compensation, however, Art Program staff provides installation assistance, design of object labels, signage and collateral materials, curatorial support as needed, and promotion through San Diego International Airport's website. Installations will be displayed for up to one year. Installation dates vary depending upon location.

Display Plans & Collaboration with Art Program Staff

Art Program staff reserves the right to review and approve all objects, artifacts, artwork and other items which may be submitted as part of the exhibitors' proposal. Additionally staff may approve, approve with minor changes, or reject any display plan in part or in totality. In the event that staff reasonably requests or suggests modifications or changes to the display plan, exhibitors will have the opportunity to respond with changes within the established exhibition schedule. Exhibitors who are unable to meet the established schedule may or may not be able to participate in this year's exhibition.

Please note that all members or artists of any collective group or organization who are contributing work as part of a group will be expected to work with Art Program staff directly in order to finalize a cohesive display plan.

Liability & Insurance

A loan agreement will be executed with selected exhibitors. The Airport Authority provides property insurance for all exhibition objects while in possession of the Airport Authority. The Airport Authority will not be responsible or liable for any loss, damage or destruction that may occur during transportation of the exhibition objects to and from San Diego International Airport.

Transportation & Delivery

San Diego International Airport will pay for shipping to and from the airport unless otherwise indicated by the artist/organization at the time of acceptance. Shipped artwork must be packed in reusable shipping containers and shipping logistics must be coordinated through Art Program Staff.

Reproduction Rights

The Airport Authority reserves the right to photograph, film, videotape or otherwise depict the exhibits proposed for this competition and to use such photographs, film, video or depictions at any time thereafter for the purposes of promotion in relation to the exhibition or San Diego International Airport, provided that name recognition is given to the exhibitor(s) concurrent with such use.

Things to Remember

Incomplete or late entries will not be accepted. All entrants will be notified of the results of the selection process within a timely manner. Please do not call or email about submission status.
